

18th-19th October 2007, Utrecht, The Netherlands.

The workshop will bring together specialists from various fields to discuss aspects of Global Monitoring and to design a plan of action. The main objectives are to assess the state of relevant information sources, to set up a global groundwater monitoring system and to recommend research directions and promote international collaboration towards the goal of global groundwater resources monitoring.