2002

The present state of Lake Doirani shows the need for urgent measures to accomplish its efficient restoration and protection. Management of the lake's water and ecosystem cannot be considered separately from the water management of the whole catchment area. INWEB has offered its services in a consultancy or coordinating capacity to concerned parties such as EKBY, GTZ and MEDWET in their efforts to plan and implement effective restoration and protection of the lake.